-Special Announcement-

The July issue of the IWMF Torch is now online!

IWMF is pleased to announce that a new issue of the Torch is now available on our website. You can read and download it from the Torch page on our website. Here are a few highlights from the issue:

- A recap of Ed Forum 2024, featuring candid photos of presenters and attendees. Visit the Ed Forum 2024 page on our website to learn more.
- Articles from IWMF affiliates in Canada and India. To learn more about these and other affiliates, visit the International Affiliates page on our website.
- Sue Herms, IWMF Research Committee member, reports on the latest research in this issue's Medical News Roundup.
- In his article "WM Expert Doctors, Where Art Thou," Dr. Tom Hoffmann offers questions to ask potential oncologists (see IWMF's Directory of WM physicians if you are looking for a provider).
- Hannah Syed recaps the Haematology Patient and Carer Congress that she attended in London on May 10, 2024 (see video presentation available here).
- To improve active monitoring, WMUK shares a checklist and videos. See the Active Monitoring page on their website.
- Congratulations to Rick Savoy, volunteer of the year! Please visit us here, if you are interested in volunteering with IWMF.

If you haven't already signed up to receive a copy of the Torch, complete this form to join our community today!
